

Requirements Strategy Stream 9100 – ISO 9001 Revision Activity

Alan Daniels
April 23, 2013

ISO9001 is changing

- A global review of ISO 9001 was completed in 2012; that resulted in a decision to revise the standard with completion in 2015
- Users of multiple management system standards wanted a common format
- Rapidly expanding use of ISO 9001 in the service sector has resulted in a re-evaluation of specific requirements

What is being considered?

- An international team of experts identified by member countries looked at a number of items to help guide revision activities:
  - a user survey
  - new quality concepts and ideas for inclusion in ISO 9001
  - revised quality management principles
  - formal interpretations
  - support and guidance notes

What is changing?

- New concepts are being considered
- The customer remains the primary focus
- More emphasis on non-manufacturing sectors
- A new common ISO format has been developed
- Increased clauses from 8 to 10

Additional information will be made available as this project progresses

9100 Series Revision High Level Plan

- The 9100 is based on ISO 9001 and is thus affected by the ISO TC176 revision activity
- Several other IAQG standards are based on the IAQG 9100 standard, and will require revision in parallel with the 9100 standard revision activity
- The IAQG 9100-series standards are planned for project completion in early 2016
- Revision focus is to fix what is broken and be very cautious in adding any new requirements
  - Sound reasoning and the benefits are clear
